Supporting a healthy community in Manukau

Counties Manukau Health owns a large site in Manukau which is home to the Manukau SuperClinic. We are planning to develop additional services on the site to meet district and local population health and wellbeing needs, and have identified that we are unlikely to need the whole site to achieve our vision. As a result we are considering whether or not to dispose of part of the site.

Have your say on the future of our Manukau site

Our 48.6 hectare Manukau site is bound by Kerrs Road, Great South Road and Browns Road in Manukau, Auckland.

We've identified some land that may not be needed for future health services

Over the past 12-18 months we have been considering how much of our Manukau site we are likely to need for future health services. We have identified there is potentially 10.85 hectares in the north-western corner of the site that may not be needed for future health services. This area could be made available to the Crown for alternative use, such as housing.

We recognise the strong link between good housing and healthy living, which is a central part of our Healthy Together strategic plan, and want to do what we can to help the Manukau community.

In addition to the 10.85 hectares, there is the potential opportunity for a new open space on the north-eastern part of the site. Subject to community feedback, we are open to this part of the site being potentially used in this way.

Any funds that Counties Manukau Health generates from the potential disposal of the land (if that were to occur) would be redirected into prioritised investment in health facilities in Counties Manukau.

We want to know what you think

Before we can make any decisions at all, we need to know what you think. Those decisions include whether or not the Board sees the land as needed for future health services.

What do you think about the proposed future of our Manukau site, including any alternative use of part of the site?
